TANFORAN SCHEDULE DELIGHTS BREEDERS

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Opening of the Tanforan race meeting on Saturday, April 20th forcuses attention of the legion of fans on the kind of sport that was instrumental in bringing back racing in this Western country. It was an up-hill struggle, with seemingly insurmountable obstacles at times, but success finally came in the restoration of the game at what the people hereabouts truthfully denominate the "home course."

Interest in California thoroughbreds is increasing steadily and every encouragement will be mare at the fast approaching period of sport in the building up of the breeding industry. Breeding and racing rise or fall together. Without blood horse nurseries up and down the state the tracks might as well close their gates. In the old days this state reared the best runners in the world and I am highly confident history will repeat itself in that regard.

Horsemen are gratifed at my announcement that an attempt will be made to "play up" the events in which two year olds are the contestants. Owners of breeding establishments are ever on the lookout for opportunities to race their youngsters. If the babies have been sold to newcomers in the pastime the breeders are just as anxious that the buyers have a chance to try out their colts and fillies.

On each afternoon of the spring session at Tanforan it is planned to have one race for two year olds and often two races for the young ones. I am heartily in favor of a maiden event nearly every day and usually that will be for two year olds, thus making two events for the babies on those afternoons.

Early comers to this section are amazed at the transformation of the Tanforan plant into one of the most modern anywhere. Remodeling of the grandstand, the moving of the racing strip to provide ample lawn space for the grandstand and clubhouse, the building of the chute at the three-quarter pole and other improvements have won high commendation from the keenly observant.

ENTERTAINMENT BENEFIT WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

Daly City Fire Department Endeavoring To Raise Big Relief Fund

The various committees of the Fire Department met Wednesday evening last at Company No. 2 quarters in joint session.

All of the chairmen of the different committees reported that everything was going along nicely. The program committee reported that the business men are responding very well in regard to placing ads in the program. This is helping the department and at the same time it gives them a great opportunity to reach the citizens, as we are having 1000 of these programs printed, and at the lowest estimate, each one will be read by at least three people which means that the advertisements will reach 3000 people.

Don't forget the date — Saturday evening, April 27; and the place, Jefferson High School Auditorium.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB IS ACTIVE

The Daly City Recreation and Improvement Club held its regular session Tuesday evening of this week in the City Hall.

Messrs J. Fahey, H. Sundermann and P. Morgan quoted prices on a number of parcels of property for a park site in the Crocker Tract.

The club has requested the Daly City Council to increase by $20,000 the proposed bond issue, to be used for purchase and development of a park site in Crocker Tract.

The club went on record as desiring to have the Daly City Library moved from its present location to the city property opposite the City Hall.

A committee was appointed to confer with the school board relative to leasing school grounds for a Community Center site.

A committee was named to learn what furnishings will be needed for banquet, assembly and meeting rooms and kitchen in a Community Center building as proposed.

All citizens interested in securing improvements for our city are urged to attend the meetings of the club, which are held every Tuesday evening in the City Hall.

FANS INTERESTED IN REMODELING OF POPULAR COURSE

Hundreds of Observers Are Noting and Commenting On Improvements

Many fans of racing are watching with keen interest the progress of the transformation of the Tanforan plant into one of the best thoroughbred headquarters in the country. J. W. Marchbank, directing owner, is personally supervising the many changes at the pioneer course. The sport came back to California at Tanforan and the track has thousands of loyal supporters.

Of the hundreds of close observers of the rapid work in the remodeling of the grandstand and other important improvements quite a number drive along the highway each day, carefully noting the changed aspect of the popular course.

One of the features highly commended is the "sunken" approximate odds and "tote" board in the infield. Although of the usual height in order to give all the spectators a good chance to see the figures of prices and so on clearly, the board has been built well below the level of the surrounding space. By the novel placing of the structure fans standing either on the clubhouse or grandstand lawn will have a perfect view of the horses as they dash down the backstretch. At other courses the board has obstructed the view of patrons just when they were anxious to find out what their "pick" was doing in the race.

The fill for the chute at the three-quarter pole has been completed and the way things are going it will not be long before the new racing strip itself is in readiness for the dressing that is expected to make the oval one of the safest in the land. A resilent racing strip helps materially in keeping horses sound and that is what the directing owner is aiming at.

BOLGER HAS BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Bolger of Risel street entertained at a birthday dinner on St. Patrick's Day, honoring Mr. Bolger on his birthday anniversary.

The guests included: Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, Joseph Bolger, Harold and Robert McPhederain, Miss E. Capis, Mrs. E. McPhederain, Henry and George Boehle and R. F. Kopke.

PLANS OUTLINED FOR COUNTY FETE

Flower Pageant, Air Circus, Horse Show And Queen Crowning Tentative Features Listed

At a meeting called in his office last Friday, County Executive Walter T. Kellogg and other officials outlined to newspaper men present tentative plans for a grand festival to be staged in the county this fall.

It is proposed to climax the county-wide celebration with a sightseeing caravan trip to the San Mateo County Memorial Park in the southern part of the county.

It is contemplated to extend an invitation to President Roosevelt to so time his visit to California as to enable him to participate in this affair. Bids to attend will also be sent to Senators Johnson and McAdoo and to Congressman John J. McGrath of this district. All are expected to accept.

Present plans provide for a chrysanthemum festival, a horse show, a livestock exhibit, yacht races, an air circus and other entertainment features in various sections of the county. The whole is to be climaxed by a trip to the Memorial Park in the southern portion of the county and the crowning of a beauty queen, who will be chosen by popular vote.

A meeting has been called for today, Friday, in Redwood City to which mayors and officials of all county municipalities, as well as unincorporated sections, have been invited. It is expected that after this meeting committees will be appointed to arrange for final details and carry these out to fruition.

BAY MEADOWS HANDICAP TO BE FEATURE EVENT

Speedy Horses Expected To Provide Considerable Competition

A fiel dof great thoroughbreds, at least ten of them, will face the barrier Saturday, tomorrow, in the $25,000 Bay Meadows Handicap, feature event of the spring racing season. Every outstanding handicap horse in America that is sound and in racing condition is on the grounds and ready for the mile and one-eighth contest.

Those eligible to start are: Azucar, Ladysman, Top Row, Head Play, Time Supply, Mate, Gusto, Riskulus, Dark Winter, Royal Blunder, Thomasville, Frank Ormont, Gay World, Bluebeard and Toro Flight.

Although Azucar won the Santa Anita classic with apparent ease, he will be carrying more weight in the Bay Meadows and the race is expected to be one of the bitterest battles of the season.

Among the famous jockeys who will have mounts in the contest are G. Woolf, Azucar's pilot; F. Mauro, who will ride Top Row; Tommy Luther, on Time Supply; H. Richards, on Mate, and C. Kurtsinger, on Head Play.

MANY DALY CITY BABES ARE BEING PUT IN CONTEST

The question of who will be "Baby King" and "Baby Queen" of the Daly City division of the Prize Baby Show is one of the warm interests to parents and public alike during the coming two weeks, as casting of points for the royalty contests got well under way.

Three divisions feature the show, one series of awards being made on health points and another series to be given for beauty points. Winners of the third competition for baby royalty titles will be chosen on combined health, beauty and friendship votes. Friendship points are being cast for the entrants by various per-

County Executive Walter T. Kellogg and Memorial Park Superintendent C. K. Jensen confer on plans.

ONE LINK OF ALASKA ROAD DUE TO BEGIN

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

It's a good idea to start actual construction of the Alaska Highway from Fairbanks to Dawson without waiting for the conclusion of negotiations between the governments of the United States and Canada concerning the building of the highway from Hazelton to Dawson. There is no telling how long it will take or how many conferences must be held before adoption of the entire project. It is generally known the link from Fairbanks to Dawson can stand of itself and furthermore that it is badly needed right now.

It is interesting to glance at a report of a special commission, consisting of Herbert H. Rice, a representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce; Ernest Walker Sawyer, formerly assistant secretary of the interior, the department which has general supervision over the Government of Alaska; and Major Malcolm Elliott, corps of engineers, United States army.

In the exhaustive report it is stated the purpose of the proposed project is to conduct the continental United States road system with the existing road system in interior Alaska. Necessarily the route passes through British Columbia and Yukon Territory. It was early determined the road should be built east of the coastal mountains, with the tentative route following the existing road up the Fraser River Valley in British Columbia to Hazelton, thence north to the headquarters of the Yukon River near the northern boundary of British Columbia, thence down the valley of the Yukon River through Whitehorse and Dawson, Yukon Territory, and westward to Fairbanks, Alaska..

The existing Richardson Highway in Alaska with which the project would connect at its northern terminal comprises with its branches and extensions, a system of over 900 miles, which connects the southern coast of Alaska with the Yukon River at Circle and has branches serving a large section of interior Alaska.

The total length of the international project measured from Seattle to Fairbanks is estimated to be 2256 miles, of which 1073 miles of road have already been constructed, leaving approximately 1183 miles of new construction to complete the project.

The mileage is divided as follows: 520 miles in British Columbia; 480 miles in Yukon Territory; and 183 miles in Alaska.

In the report we have been studying there is a recommendation that the Fairbanks to Dawson road be built without waiting for the adoption of the entire project in order to develop the intermediate territory and provide an early connection between the two communities as well as provide a vital link in the proposed through highway.

The trouble about immediate work on the Fairbanks-Dawson link comes in a clause of the McNary bill appropriating $2,000,000 for the survey, location and construction of the highway. The bill provides that no money shall be appropriated until an agreement between the two governments has been reached.

A way out is for the Federal Government to set aside a substantial amount in its rehabilitation program for the needed work up north. Money could not be used to a better purpose. There are 500,000 square miles in the Alaskan empire and roads are imperatively necessary for the 6,000,000 citizens the empire could easily support.

MOTHERS IN LAW TAKE NOTICE!

Once a year in Amarillo, Texas, mothers-in-law are queens, for in that city Mother-in-Law Day is observed.

It all started when Gene Howe, Amarillo editor, discovered that a joke pertaining to mothers-in-law, appearing in his daily column, had offended his wife's mother. To right the wrong Howe decided on the annual celebration and in addition promised himself never again to print any derogatory items about mothers-in-law in his newspaper.

"Since the inauguration of mother-in-law day a year ago,' 'observed a prominent citizen, "good will among individuals, among neighbors, among the different sections of our country, has increased noticeably. The principles of helpfulness and friendship and tolerance have been furthered. Harmony in the home, one of the cardinal principles of the true mother-in-law, is becoming the rule where it once was the exception."

SOLONS IN FAVOR OF ALASKA ROAD

Mining men highly approve the action of the Assembly at Sacramento in adopting a resolution asking Congress to take steps immediately with regard to completing the much needed Alaska Highway.

The resolution, introduced by Assemblymay Dewey Anderson, Cupertino, declares work on the 2200 mile road will be a great help in the relief of unemployment. As has been pointed out a number of times by J. W. Marchbank in his illuminating articles on mining, the 500,000 square miles of Alaska could easily take care of at least 6,000,000 hardy young men and men of middle age.

It is likely the State Senate will concur in the Anderson resolution and it will then be forwarded to Washington for action.

COUNTY BOARD WANTS FAIR SITE FOR PENINSULA

Recreation Commission And Director Of Health Also Receive Appointment

Declaring that "all I'm interested in is in seeing the 1938 fair held in San Mateo County; it will do us unlimited good," Supervisor A. J. Witt led the fight when the County Board of Supervisors joined the campaign to have the world's fair staged on a 1100 acre site at the Mills Field Airport. They concurred in a fourteen point resolution, introduced by Witt, emanating from the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, declaring the San Mateo County location offers the best climatic conditions and the easiest accessibility to the entire bay region for those attending.

The resolution, which was adopted by the board, reads:

WHEREAS the Supervisors of San Francisco are considering the selection of a site for an exposition in celebration of the completion of the Transbay bridge ;and

WHEREAS the island of Yerba Buena is being seriously considered,

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED by the Menlo Park Chamber of Com-

ROMANCE AND ART COMBINED IN NEW PICTURE

Garbo Greater Than Ever In Her Latest Vehicle "The Painted Veil"

Two experts in the art of screen romance make their first appearance together in Garbo's latest starring vehicle, "The Painted Veil," filmization of the gripping Somerset Maugham novel, which will currently draw crowds to the Daly City Theater on Sunday and Monday, March 24 and 25.

One, of course, is the incomparable Garbo. The other is the brilliant English actor, Herbert Marshall, who is being demanded these days by all of the greater stars for their leading man.

The story tells of the eldest daughter of an Austrian professor who, refusig to marry the man picked for her by her parents, arouses her mother's ire. To escape her unpleasant surroundings she marries Dr. Fane, a young English medical scientist.

Bride and groom go to China where the husband neglects his wife to devote all his time to his work, while the wife accepts the attentions of another man to dispel the monotony of the Oriental life.

The story rises to great dramatic heights during a native riot and the destruction of a plagued city by fire, during which Garbo and Marshall contribute the finest performances of their respective careers.

George Brent gives a masterful characterization as Townsend, the "other man," and others deserving of praise in the cast are Jean Hersholt, as Garbo's father; Beulah Bondi, as her mother; Cecilia Parker, as her sister, Olgo; Warner Oland, as the Chinese General Yu; Katherine Alexander, as Mrs. Townsend; Soo Yong, as Garbo's native maid, and ForresterHarvey, as Waddington, the jovial, alcoholic commissioner.

The direction of Richard Boleslawski contributes a great deal to the success of the new Garbo vehicle.

The second feature is "The Silver Streak," with Sally Blane andCharles Starett. Also a Popeye cartoon. Miscellaneous China Night, Monday.

DELEGATES AND ALTERNATES FOR APRIL SESSION

Crocker P. T. A. Holds Its Meeting In Ann Welcome Lounge Downtown

The last regular meeting of the Crocker P. T. A. was held in Ann Welcome's Lounge in the Call-Bulletin Building. As several of the members had small children who could not be left at home and as others were reported ill, the attendance was not as large as the president anticipated.

A great deal of business was transacted, most important of which was the election of delegates and alternates to the District Convention in April, and election of a nominating committee. The delegates who were elected were: Mrs. G. Katch and Mrs. Elsie Lewis, besides the president, Mrs. N. Clifton. The alternates were: Mrs. F. Gaitor, Mrs. R. Abbott and Mrs. E. Dorn.

The nominating committee was: Mrs. Katch, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Wegner and Mrs. Gaitor, who are to report the new officers nominated at the next meeting in April.

A whist which had been planed for the last Friday in March was put forward to Wednesday, March 20, and Mrs. Virginia Davison was given charge of it.

Miss Welcome gave a very interesting talk on New Foods and New Kitchen Equipment, as it was Home Service Month.

At the close of the meeting very delicious sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served by Miss Welcome and her helpers, after which the whole delegation made a tour of the building, viewing the preparing and printing of a large daily paper, for the first time. Every one present voted the meeting one of the most interesting of the year, and a vote of thanks was tendered Miss Welcome and her paper for the kindness in being Crocker hosts for its March meeting.

As neither of the ladies who attended the February district meeting could be present their report was put off until the April meeting.

ITALIAN AMERICAN CLUB HAS ITS FIRST ANNIVERSARY MEET

Over 100 members and friends of the Italian American Citizens Club attended a banquet last Saturday evening at the Tip Top restaurant to celebrate the first anniversary of the organization of the club.

The festivities were presided over by President Adolph Pellegrini.

Mayor Smith was introduced and in his remarks complimented the club for its activities and the progress it had made. He also stressed the value of service this kind of organizations render to their community.

Al J. Witt, supervisor of the First District of San Mateo County, who is a resident of this city, recounted the doings of earlier days in this city and said he felt as much at home with the Italian citizens as in any other gathering. He stated he is always ready to give advice or assistance to any Italian citizen of the county when needed.

The newly elected justice of the peace, Wade H. Clay, was called on and thanked the members for their support and promised, if possible, to have a court established in Daly City, something that is sorely needed here.

The guest of honor was Mr. Louis Dematties, newly appointed assistant district attorney, who delivered one of the most inspiring talks heard by the club members. He spoke in both the English and Italian language, so every one present enjoyed hearing him. He was presented with a beautiful cake.

Representatives from other parts of the county in attendance were: M. Mimuciani, Mr. Spuri and Mr. Tacchi of the South San Francisco club; Mr. Calvin Grandi and Mr. Rossi of the Progressive Italian American Club of Redwood City; Mr. Cuccone of the Progressive Italian American Club of San Mateo, and Mr. Berri and Mr. Vesper of the Italian American New Deal Club of San Mateo.

Ladies Home Club Meets

The regular whist party of the Ladies Home Club will be given at the clubhouse on Werner avenue, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. Cathryn Wight and Mrs. Marguerite Woodside as chairmen. All friends of the members are welcome and valuable prizes are always presented to the winners.

The regular business meeting, held Tuesday, was well attended. A sewing session will be held on April 9, at 10 o'clock. The chairman, Mrs. Emlie Twesten, is anxious to finish a few more baby layettes and always keep a number on hand. The afternoon will be devoted to the business session, at which the president, Mrs. W. H. Clay, will preside, and the latter part of the day will be given over to the planting of a memory garden, the members exchanging plants. Mrs. Mary Crane is chairman.

COUNTY BOARD WANTS FAIR SITE

merce to ask the reconsideration of this possible selection in favor of a site along the bay shore of the San Francisco Penisula, namely, part of the 1100 acres of Mills Air Base now owned by San Francisco and advocated by our Congressman, John J. McGrath and Albert J. Witt, Supervisor, San Mateo county, for the following reasons:

1. The island of Yerba Buena lies in the line of fog and cold winds coming through the Golden Gate, and therefore very undesirable because of climatic conditions.

2. The island of Yerba Buena can be reached only from the San Francisco-Oakland bridge and ferries, and therefore presents a very serious transportation problem by the addition of the fair patronage to the regular transbay traffic, especially in the morning and late afternoon hours, if not one that will be almost impossible of solution; under any circumstances the island will be accessible only through the crowded streets of San Francisco and East Bay cities, the transportation problems of which are causing even now serious consideration.

3. Yerba Buena will give a most congested site for the exposition at best, gathering on this isolated spot, and because of transportation difficulties making it quite an effort for them and residents of the surrounding country to make the casual visits which tend so much to swell the attendance.

The selection of a portion of the Mills Airport site of 1100 acres will provide a site free from fogs and the cold winds coming in through the Golden Gate, giving a delightful climatic condition and making days and nights pleasant for visitors, upon which the exposition must depend for its success.

5. The Mills Airport site is easily accessible by the Southern Pacific trains, San Francisco car lines, busses and individually owned automobiles.

6. A boat service with no interference from the natural bay traffic and with many landings can be developed by dredging, the ground thus obtained usable for such filling as the site may need.

7. The Mills Airport site is accessible to traffic over both the San Mateo and Dumbarton bridges on the south, making an inviting entrance from the central and southern portions of the state and east bay points.

8. Hetch Hetchy water will be easily available, and the purity of this water a great advertisement for San Francisco and this area.

9. San Francisco's own electric power, and natural gas, both easily available at the Mills Airport site, would give cheap lighting and power.

10. The bay adjoining the Mills Airport site is very little used and would therefore make a most desirable place for all kinds of aquatic sports and carnivals.

11. Patrons of the exposition would find the theaters, hotels and parks of San Francisco and the bay area easily accessible through highways, boulevards and streets which are of themselves quite an attractive feature and diversion, acquainting them with and advertising our entire bay area.

12. The necessary expense incurred and the extensive grounds produced could be planned to foster permanent improvements, such as railroad extensions which might help to solve our rapid transportation problems; and enlarged air trasnportation yards which would help San Francisco and the entire bay section.

13. Parking space for almost any number of cars could be arranged on Mills Airport field, making trips to the exposition an easy and pleasant entertainment.

14. San Francisco and adjoining territory will be called upon to furnish by far the greater part of the funds to produce the exposition and should rely on its own resources and future development and not rely on Oakland's promises as heretofore.

JOHN H. SULLIVAN,
President.

The following telegram was sent to the Board of San Francisco Supervisors, in session Monday afternoon, at which time they reconsidered the site on Yerba Buena shoals for the fair:

"San Mateo County Supervisors unanimously recommend that Mills Field vicinity be selected for the bridge fair site."

Supervisor Witt denied reports that he proposed to a member of the San Francisco board that San Mateo County "amalgamate" with the former city in the proposed exposition, or that this county call a special election to "consolidate" with the larger city.

The board split over the Townsend old age pension plan, but on roll call there were enough affirmative votes to put the supervisors on record as favoring the pension program.

The board approved County Executive Kellogg's appointees on the recreation commission, as follows: Mrs. Sophie Root, Burlingame; L. Herbert Harris, Burlingame; Mario L. Giannini, San Mateo; Dr. George E. Davis, Pescadero ,and Felix Bortis of Daly City.

The board also approved the permanent appointment of Major Charles C. Gans as director of county health and welfare.

The appointment of Martin Poss of San Mateo, to succeed Supervisor Beer on the county planning commission, was approved.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY UNIT

(Catherine Foreman, Pub. Chmn.)

Wednesday of this week Daly City Unit held the first initiation of this year and five new members were initiated by our own officers, who put on their own degree work.

Our Department Secretary Treasurer, Ethel Flynn, honored us by being present at this meeting, and her talk was most instructive.

Other guests present were: Mrs. Collins, president of Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044, V. F. W.; Mrs. Dorn, president of San Mateo-Santa Clara County Council, V. F. W.; Commander R. Brueley of the local V. F. W.; our own commander, Ed Trier, and Catherine Foreman, district president, American Lgeion Auxiliary, Eighth District. Mrs. E. Bullard, president, and Mrs. E. Thurer, commander, both of Noe Valley Post and Unit No. 522, and a number of their members were also present. We were also honored by the Old Glory Auxiliary No. 2044 drill team attending.

Sunday next the San Mateo County Council drill team, under their captain, Catherine Foreman, will participate in a large Americanism program to be held in Burlingame by the Eighth District of the American Legion.

We are glad to see Gladys Riordan, our marshal, up and out again, and trust our other sick members will be up and about soon.

FIRE DEPARTMENT WEEKLY BULLETIN

(By Chief A. P. Chesney)

Would like to call your attention to the disposal of hot ashes, as we have had several fires that originated by throwing hot ashes in cartons, wooden boxes or barrels. They are only two ways to take care of these safely; either bury them or place them in a metal can with a tight cover.

Would also like to call your attention to the matter of cleaning clothes with gasoline, naptha or any other inflamable liquid. You might possibly get by with this by going out in the open air, but there have been cases known where people were burned even in the open air. As for using it indoors, you are tempting fate.

A short while back there was a lady soaking her clothes in the wash trays, half full of gasoline, and preparing the evening meal over an open gas plate less than two feet from the tubs. The result was the clothes were all destroyed and the back porch all scorched. More on this subject next week.

You can help yourself and your home newspaper by patronizing your home merchants.

FORTY AND EIGHT SOCIETY TO FROLIC

Final arrangements were made last night by the Forty and Eight Society of San Mateo County, Voiture No. 393, for its dance and frolic Saturday (tomorrow) night, at a meeting over which T. Louis Chess, chef de gare, presided. The general chairman of the affair is Carlton W. Hermann. Herb Myerinck's orchestra will play from 9 o'clock to 1 a. m.

Reports submitted at last night's cheminot indicate a large crowd will be on hand and every one attending is assured of a splendid time.

Every post on the Peninsula has been contacted and a large representation will be on hand to swell the proceeds, which will be used to outfit the drill team of La Societe. Several Legion posts from San Francisco and voitures from the bay area are boosting this frolic. It will be held in the Belmont American Legion Hall.

INCUMBENT FILES FOR RE-ELECTION

George R. Augustien, who has been chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson School District for the past twelve years, is a candidate for another three year term. He was first elected in 1923 and in 1926, 1929 and 1932 he was returned to office.

Mr. Augustien has resided in Daly City twenty-one years and throughout that period has taken an active part in civic affairs. He has been associated with the fire department ever since he came to live here and has been a member of the Board of Fire Commissioners for the past 15 years.

GENERAL PERSHING ENTERTAINS HELPERS

General Pershing P. T. A. entertained at luncheon Thursday of this week, at the school on Hanover street, in honor of the women who so graciously helped to carry out the cafeteria at that school for the past five months.

The cafeteria, which closed Friday of last week for the summer, is a huge undertaking and requires much time and thought.

The women donated their services and planned well balanced luncheons for the children during the winter months.

Represent Crocker At Meet

Mrs. Clifton and Mrs. Dorn represented the Crocker P. T. A. last Friday at the district meeting in Burlingame. It was Home Service Month and the different members of that department gave short resume of their work. The ladies reported a very interesting and instructive meeting and an excellent musical program.

PLEASANT TRIP

"Did you have a nice trip?"

"Very good. My wife did all the driving."

"How lovely. So you could enjoy the scenery?"

"Yes, all I had to do was to hold the wheel."

In Doubt

"What has become of the man who used to say, 'Every day, in every way, we're getting better and better'?"

"I don't know," answered Miss Cayenne, "whether he went to heaven or whether he has joined old friends at headquarters of the Ananias club."

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. At a baseball game a ball strikes ten-year-old Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment, from which, by McNamara's orders, she is removed to the chief's home. From one of the men in the boat on which the girl escaped McNamara learns that Nance's real name is Penelope Gatlin. He also discovers that she is heiress to $750,000.

Angelloti was a resourceful fellow. "Let's call on that Lanning woman, apologize for our rough work last night, an' maybe she'll slip us some o' that pre-war Bourbon again."

Flynn nodded, and they drove to Lanny's house. Lanny received them coldly. "Have you come to search my house again?" she demanded irritably.

No mule's face could possibly have been longer and sadder than P. Flynn's. "We didn't come to annoy you, Miss Lanning. The chief's give us the inside story. We just called to apologize for even suspectin' you."

"An officer," Angelloti explained, "has got to do a lot o' things he don't like to do in the discharge of his duty. The apology goes double, Miss Lanning."

"It's accepted." Then they shook hands. "How about a shot in the arm?" Lanny, the worldling, suggested, much mollified.

Angelloti shrugged expressively. "Well, seein' as how," P. Flynn murmured. So they had three drinks and spent a very pleasant evening with Lanny and she was loath to see them depart.

Now, Lanny was aware that Stephen had planned to visit his queer patients after dinner that night. So she telephoned—and Dan McNamara answered.

"I shouldn't ring you up this late and get you out of bed—"

"Not at all. Just got in this minute."

"I'm glad. How's everything, Dan?"

"I haven't seen the patients, but my chief of staff was up waiting for me, and reports everything jake."

"That's all I wanted to know. Thanks, Dan. Oh, by the way, Flynn and Angelloti called on me again, tonight."

"What's that!" The chief's voice was a roar. "What are those two eggs up to? I told them to lay off you."

"They're doing that, Dan. They just called to apologize. They spent the evening with me. They only left a moment ago."

"The liquor must have run out."

"Oh, Dan!"

"I know those two. It would never occur to them to apologize to anybody if they didn't have a reason. It's just as I suspected, Lanny. They're going to hang on to this case on the quiet and trail you around."

An anguished thought popped into Lanny's agile brain. "Oh, Dan, suppose they took a notion to trail Stevie!"

"Hush! You don't have to paint me any picture, Lanny. When did these two busybodies call at your house?"

"At nine-fifteen."

"Wait a minute." Lanny waited a minute and then McNamara said: "Stephen left here just about that time, so I guess we're safe tonight. And tomorrow I'll cover that loophole. I'm an ass not to have thought of it before. Good night."

In the morning Dan McNamara sent for Flynn and informed him he was to depart that night for Los Angeles to bring back a prisoner. Flynn begged Angelloti to keep his eyes on the job. But that night McNamara found other work for Angelloti. By the time Flynn returned, Angelloti was gone, and the same night, without a moment's notice, McNamara shot him up to Seattle on a similar job.

He let himself into the house that night with his latchkey, turned on the hall light and whistled. "Hello, everybody," he shouted. Nobody answered, so he hurried down to Nance's room. The door was open. He switched on the light and found a disordered bed with nobody in it. He searched the house thoroughly, only to discover he was alone in it; finally, on the living room table he found a note:

"Dear Chief: We think you mean well and we thank you for what you have done, but the dicks are watching this house. They trailed the doctor last night, but a friend of ours trailed them. Forgive us if we just can't trust any cop. Anyhow, it would be embarrassing for you if your men found us here. Good-by and good luck."

McNamara sat down. He was suddenly weak. So he hadn't fooled Flynn and Angelloti after all. The smart devils! Well, they might suspect all they pleased, but unless they had seen his guests and recognized Nance they could never prove anything.

He realized now that his act in sending them out of the state would clinch their suspicions; they would be sure to have somebody in their confidence keep the house under constant surveillance until they got back. Evidently they had sent a bungler and the ex-soldier had spotted the fellow—he wondered if Nance and her loyal friends had made a clean getaway.

The front doorbell rang and he went to answer it. A thin, bent man stood in the entrance, and even in the dim light from the hall McNamara knew him for an ex-convict in his prison suit of civilian clothes.

"Chief McNamara?" he queried huskily.

"Yes, I'm the chief."

"I got out of San Quentin this morning. I had a message for you, but I didn't want to come to headquarters to deliver it. Benny the Beetle told me to tell you to rest easy."

"Thanks, friend. Come in and rest easy yourself. Let's get acquainted," McNamara invited hospitably. In the clearer light of the living room he saw his visitor was far from being a well man. "What is it, kid?" he demanded. "Hop—or T. B.?"

"The old coughin' sickness, Chief. The prison directors shortened my term to let me out for treatment. As if I can get treatment anywhere," he added bitterly.

"Oh, yes, you can. I'm living alone here for the next thirty days, so I'll get a nurse in to take care of you, and you stay here."

The man looked at him suspiciously. "You mean it, Chief?"

"What did Benny tell you about me?" McNamara asked.

"He told me to trust you. He said you was one human being, even if you was a chief of police."

He changed the linen on Nance's bed, put the room in order, laid out a suit of pajamas and ordered his guest to bed.

"And now, me bold buckos," he reflected, "keep on trailing Doctor Burt to my house, if you feel like it."

He waited up until Stephen Burt arrived, and explained the situation to him. Stephen considered it a tremendous joke but commended his line of attack on Flynn and Angelloti.

"Hello, Stevie, Old Darling."

"The man does need treatment very badly," he told the chief. "I'll send around a practical nurse early tomorrow morning to look after him, and I'll continue to call upon the poor devil nightly until further orders. We're both involved in a tricky game now and must play the hand through."

Doctor Burt was suddenly serious. "I do hope we haven't lost Nance, Dan. She's the most interesting psychological case I've ever seen."

"She ain't lost, but I'll bet a cookie she's well hid. But I'll locate her within twelve hours," Chief McNamara added, thinking of Ella Cates.

"I've run Nance's early history down since I saw her last, Doc," he announced suddenly. "I got busy the other day and luck was with me. She's an heiress and her name is Penelope Gatlin. She got it in the nose by a baseball—a long fly into the bleachers. But I also discovered something else. It's a question whether she ain't just a natural nut. Her mother is. She led Gatlin a h—l of a life."

"No, I don't think it's congenital, Dan. There's something about that girl that's healthy—mentally and physically. Did you meet her mother?"

"No, but I'm going to run her down easy enough."

Stephen sighed. "Oh, poor Nance! I'm afraid she's beyond my skill, after all. A bad family history, Mac—very bad. There's a structural weakness in some families that never gets bred out, and I suspect poor Nance has an inheritance of mental instability from her mother."

"Well, with that busted nose, her inheritance and her hellcat mother, she certainly had a fine start on the road to the foolish farm, didn't she, Doc? Excuse me, there's the telephone."

Lanny was calling. "Dan," she quavered, "my house has been burglarized. They jimmied the back door, and for all I know the burglars are upstairs still. I'm watching the staircase—got my pistol covering it. Come over quick, Dan—please."

"Coming right away, Lanny." He hung up and faced Stephen. "Lanny has burglars. Into your car, boy, and we'll beat it over."

CHAPTER VII

Lanny, very white and shaken, was in her living room, pistol in hand, watching the stairs, when McNamara and Stephen came noiselessly in the back door. The chief whipped out his pistol and went unhesitatingly up the stairs. Presently he called them to come up.

They found him standing in the doorway leading into Lanny's guest chamber. "Take a look at that," he ordered.

They looked. Lying in the bed, sound asleep, was Nance Belden!

McNamara switched off the light and softly closed the door. With his great head clasped in both huge hands he went down the stairs to the living room. "Doc," he pleaded, "whose loony now? I think I am because I'm seeing things that ain't in the book. Ochone, ochone, and wirra, wirra, the fairies have me in tow!"

"Got to get her out of here," Dan McNamara decided. "Flynn and Angelloti finally got on her trail, no doubt about that—and it's a mighty cold trail those two dicks can't follow. I suspected this, and the note she left at my house confirms it. It's just the mercy of God that Flynn and Angelloti didn't happen to slip into my domicile and find the note. If they had I'd be sunk. They can suspect all they want to, but hanging it on to me is another pair of boots, as the French say."

"Why, they wouldn't dare invade their own chief's house," Lanny protested.

"They wouldn't? You don't know those two bozos like I do. They'd dare anything if they figured they could get away with it."

"Can't you give the miserable snoopers an office job?" Lanny demanded. She was faintly provoked at Daniel for his lack of initiative.

"Would you herd cows with a couple of horses that had won the derby?"

"Oh!"

"Wake that psychopathic nuisance up, Lanny, and get her down here. I've got to find out things or go crazy. Besides, she hasn't had any dinner."

"Let the poor lamb sleep, Dan," pleaded Lanny.

"I need a lot of sleep myself and I can't get it until I know how, when and where Nance and her gang made the getaway. Suppose Flynn and Angelloti let them make the getaway; suppose Flynn followed the men and Angelloti followed Nance? They'd do that; they wouldn't risk getting in Dutch with me by making the pinch as the gang came out of my house. They have some loyalty and a lot of common sense, and they know which side their bread is buttered on. When they take the girl they'll not turn her in to me. They'll waltz her straight back to San Quentin to the warden and let his men get the credit for recapturing her. All they want is the reward. Suppose they know she's here now and suppose they've seen me come here? Ouch! Murderation!"

"Have her down, Lanny," Stephen commanded in his operating room voice, and Lanny had no alternative save to obey. So presently Nance came down the stairs with her. The girl was arrayed in an old faded dressing gown of Lanny's, her hair was tousled, and she yawned sleepily.

"Hello, Stevie, old darling; hello, Dan, you great big beautiful thing. Here I am."

"Sit down," McNamara invited in honeyed accents.

So Nance sat down promptly—on his tremendous knees—put her arm around his burly neck and kissed him. "Now, don't get excited," she cooed. "I know exactly what's burning you up, but you needn't worry. One of the boys recognized Flynn and I recognized Angelloti, because he's the dick that pinched me the first time I got in Dutch. They kept circling the block in their car all the afternoon, and when it was almost dark we saw Flynn go into an alley alongside a vacant house across the street. We decided Angelloti had gone home for dinner. So we telephoned Angelloti's house and his wife said that he was eating his dinner, and unless it was important to call up in fifteen minutes. So we said it wasn't important, hung up and held a conference.

"We decided the back of the house wasn't guarded, so we telephoned the boy friend that met us at the yacht harbor that night, and he came and parked in the next street. We went out your back door, leaving the light in the front room burning and shinnied over the back fence. Some job for two members of the party, I'll say. Once over the fence we had to prowl through the back yard of the house that abuts against the rear of your house—and a dog bit me, but not very hard. We got out in front and into the next street before anybody could come out and see what luck the dog had had; our car was there and we beat it. We're pretty sure nobody followed us, but we drove out to the park first with our lights doused, and when we were sure nobody was trailing us, the boys brought me here. We jimmied your back door, Lanny dear; then the boys said good-by to me for keeps. It seems you don't want me associating with them any more and they think you're right about that, Dan."

Alterations in Place Names Not Infrequent

How folks in a community will change the real name of a place, a river, mountain, etc., by gradual differences in spelling and pronunciation, is brought out on "Uncle Sam's Handbook on Geographical Names," published by the United States Geographic board.

Sometimes the natives will entirely reverse the proper name of a place, by carelessness or as a joke, over a long period. Horse Creek in California, for instance, is now miscalled Cow Creek. Breteche Creek, Wyoming, has been called Britisher Creek a long time, perhaps because it sounds like that.

The board found that the word Ozarks was corrupted from the French words Aux Arcs, pronounced exactly the same way.—Washington Post.

GROUND GRIP TIRES THAT 6,000,000 FARMERS NEED FOR THEIR CARS, TRUCKS AND TRACTORS TO PULL THEM THROUGH MUD, SAND OR BAD ROADS OF ANY KIND

YOU don't need chains, for these Ground Grip Tires will pull you through where chains would leave you stranded in mud or sand. Firestone Ground Grip Tires for motor cars, trucks and tractors give the farmer greatest economy ever offered, and relief from being stranded on mud roads and in soft ground.

Why can Firestone give you these wonderful new tires with the wide tread that withstands this terrific pull and strain, and still does not destroy the cord body? Firestone can do this because the body of this tire is built with Gum-Dipped cords. Underneath the tread, the patented construction feature of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped High Stretch cords gives extra adhesion of the tread to the cord body, enabling Firestone Tires to hold on this heavy, tough, scientifically designed tread. This tire cleans itself on any kind of clay or soft ground, and the tread projections have been so placed, that they are always in contact with the road, doing away with any bumping.

You cannot afford to be without these tires on your trucks and passenger cars. If your tractor is not equipped with rubber tires, see your nearest Firestone Service Store—tire dealer or implement dealer, and learn how easy it is to make the changeover. Get our prices on a full line of tires and auto supplies.

ALLEGED ROAD CHANGE MEANS DICTATORSHIP

Claim Made Consolidation Could Be Used To Build Powerful Machine

Directly challenged to present facts supporting the claim that millions would be saved taxpayers by placing all county roads under state control, Governor Merriam and Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly have failed to produce such evidence.

This was the declaration made by Andrew J. Gallagher, chairman of the finance committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

"It is claimed there would be a saving of eight million dollars or more per year," Gallagher said. "It looks like a pretty picture. But up to this moment, although personally challenged by me to substantiate such claims, neither the Governor nor Mr. Kelly has done so.

"Even if a saving of that kind could be made it would be a high price to pay for surrender of precious rights of local self government.

"The end of the trail is dictatorship. The entire scheme reflects the unwholesome tendency to concentrate powers of government in as few hands as possible.

"Imagine the immense political machine that would be inherited by some future governor. There would be set up a super-state government and bureaucracy in control of our roads, moving all authority of local voters and concentrating it in Sacramento. No guarantee is given any county as to when it could legitimately expect any given road to be improved or constructed. No provision is made for emergency road work, such as reconditioning roads impaired by winter to make them fit for seasonal movements of farm crops.

"All county road forces and equipment built up with the approval of county voters over a period of many years would be scattered to the winds.

"True, there is a flimsy and vague promise that county road staffs would be taken over by the state. But there is a catch in that, too. Those men would be taken over temporarily and then forced to meet the arbitrary requirements of a state civil service examination.

"Many trained men, successful in their jobs and alert and familiar with the needs of their particular county, men tested and approved by experience, would in many instances be replaced by some stranger sent from Sacramento. The people of a county would have to submit their needs to an entire stranger, subject not to their wishes but to the dictates of his overlords at the capitol.

"Not only that, but all county road equipment would be taken in possession by the state, as well as all unexpended road funds of the counties. That sounds like confiscation.

"San Francisco stands with her sister counties against this bold attempt to usurp their proper rights."

NEW ACTIVITIES BEGIN NEW YEAR

(L. M. Hill, Publicity Chairman)

Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion, has started on its fifth year with two activities well under way. The First Aid team has held three meetings and is making good progress under Disaster and Relief Chairman Harry Andersen. Classes are held every Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Legion Hall.

Comrades Talmadge and Riordan have the squadron of the Sons of the American Legion organized and have applied for their charter. Meetings are held in Legion Hall at 6:45 p. m. every Monday evening. Initiation and installation ceremonies are to be held soon.

An Eighth District Americanism meeting will be held in the Burlingame High School Sunday, March 24, from 10 a. m. until noon. The afternoon rally will be held in the Washington Baseball Park, next to the high school.

All post chairmen of the Americanism, Sons of the Legion Boy Scouts, and Junior Baseball are asked to have their reports for the district chairman at the morning session.

Among the organizations participating in the afternoon rally will be the County Council Drum Corps, the Drill Team of the County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Drill Team of our own Juniors of Daly City Unit No. 410, American Legion Auxiliary.

Social dance in Legion Hall, Saturday night, March 30.

CANADIANS SET FINE EXAMPLE

Serve Long Apprenticeship And Now Blossom Out As Professionals

From "Gold," sprightly publication of Toronto, is gleaned the following:

We Canadians no longer are amateurs in the business of mining. We are professionals. More than twenty-five long years have gone into the necessary apprenticeship. Prospector, explorer, engineer, geologist, underground miner, surveyor, metallurgist, government employe, transportation man, aviator, power plant builder, mining educationalist, mining journalist, northern merchant, mining solicitor, road builder and financier—these are a few of the classes which have been studying and striving to qualify in their several vocations. During the probationary period, comparatively few of these men had outstanding material success; all were working toward the solution of peculiar problems. Today the collective results of their experience and training constitutes one of the country's greatest assets and a tremendous new impetus has been gained in finding and making new mines. Our prospectors have traveled hundreds of thousands of miles over the rocks, our miners have driven thousands of miles through the deep rocks, aviators have pulled the hinterland closer. We have won a fraction of the wealth the North possesses. Only now are we fully qualified, with every modern tool at hand, to go on with the job and reap great harvests.

Our economic structure seems to make it almost impossible for Canadians to lead in industrial invention. We are largely dependent on other countries for new, created things, whether it be an electric refrigerator or a musical composition. But in the things that belong to Canada, the trees, or the soil, or the rocks, or the streams, we take second place to no race. Northern development is at once the most productive business we have and the most inspiring constructive effort in the world.

We are "pros." Professional effort needs system. Let's put system wherever it is needed in all the stages from prospecting to financing.

MAY NEED THE MONEY

Insurance against kidnapping is not written by companies in the United States, but can be obtained in England. This seems all the more strange when we reflect that this country has more kidnapings for ransom in all its history.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Little Known Matters That Should Prove of General Interest

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: What city is called the "Paris of the East"?

Answer: Shanghai, China.

Question: Who is Basil Dean?

Answer: One of England's leading producers for the stage and screen.

Question: Of what is cinnamon made?

Answer: From the inner bark of the under branches of a species of laurel, chiefly found in Ceylon, but growing also in Malabar and other tropical regions.

* * *

Question: What are the citrus fruits?

Answer: Orange, lemon, grapefruit, lime, citron, kumquat and bergamot.

Question: Where is the City of Reims and why is it important?

Answer: It is located in Northern France. Its thirteenth century cathedral has long made it a place of interest to all lovers of art. In spite of the damage this building suffered during the World War, it remains one of the most beautiful examples of Gothic architecture ever built. Here for 650 years all the kings of France were crowned, and here Joan of Arc stood at the coronation of Charles VII in 1429. After the World War the cathedral stood in a mass of ruins, but the tremendous work of restoration was undertaken. John D. Rockefeller contributed large sums of money to make quick restoration possible.

Test Out London Law

London's recently enacted law prohibiting the use of motor vehicle horns between 11:30 p. m. and 7:30 a. m. does not necessitate a trip to the English metropolis to study its effects.

The American motorist can find out just what the Londoner is up against by deciding not to use his horn during these hours. If he discovers himself driving more slowly than usual—feeling rather bereft without a warning device—he will be doing just what those who made the London law hoped.

Insufficient Oil

Running the car even a few miles with insufficient oil in the crankcase may ruin the piston rings in one or more cylinders.

EIGHTH DISTRICT AMERICAN LEGION

The Eighth District Americanism Conference and Rally will be held at Burlingame on Sunday next.

It is imperative that all Post commanders and Post chairmen of the following committees attend the conference in the morning at the Burlingame High School from 10 o'clock until noon: Americanism, Sons of the Legion, Boy Scouts and Junior Baseball.

Morning conference at 10 o'clock sharp. All chairmen of the above committees should be instructed to render their reports. Luncheon recess at 12 noon to 1:30 p. m.

Rally, Washington Park Baseball Grounds—1:30 to 2 o'clock, band concert; 2 o'clock, advance of Colors; 2 to 2:15, introduction of prominent guests; 2:15 to 2:45, address, "Foreign Isms vs. Americanism," by John Francis Neylan, attorney; 2:45 to 4, exhibition drills by drill teams, drum corps, bands, etc.

Bring your Colors and stands for afternoon rally.

Posts which have drill teams, drum corps or bands should arrange for their participation in the afternoon.

All members of your Post, Auxiliary Unit and Sons of the Legion Squadron are invited to participate in the afternoon rally. Through publicity in San Mateo County and San Francisco papers a large attendance is expected from the general public. Watch papers for further details.

Merritt H. Brady is Eighth District chairman Americanism Committee; Steve Herrick is assistant chairman of arrangements.

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise, it shall teach! Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all in the midst of it." These words from Habakkuk comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, March 24, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Matter." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee. Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit ,he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (John 3:5, 6).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "The foundation of mortal discord is a false sense of man's origin. To begin rightly is to end rightly. Every concept which seems to begin with the brain begins falsely. Divine Mind is the only cause or Principle of existence. Cause does not exist in matter, in mortal mind, or in physical forms" (p. 262).

RUSTLERS OF RED DOG No. 1—Saturday Matinee

COLUMN OF NRA BUSINESS FACTS

"I am determined that the people of this country keep before them the fundamental issues. I refuse to be diverted by the misrepresentations of opponents, the fears of the weak, the madness of the unreasoning."—President Roosevelt.

CONGRESS LOOKS AT RECOVERY

Congress is already engaged in the great work of revising New Deal legislation to bring it into harmony with the country's future needs. One after another measures which have served the national needs up to now will be scrutinized in the light of experience gained in the fight on the depression during the past two years. Changes will be made in the various recovery measures wherever experience dictates the need for change to accelerate attainment of the goal which all desire—the return of better times.

The debates and discussions soon to be heard in the Halls of Congress will find each in the great public forum of the country at large, for wherever men and women meet the subject of paramount interest is bound to be concerned with the best means of promoting the end sought by all—the final rescue of American business from the slough of despond.

With respect to the end desired there is little division of opinion. But men will differ over the means through which to attain that end. Nevertheless ,out of many counsels wisdom often prevails and the public mind ought to be clarified by the full discussion of means and measures both within and without the National Legislature.

The gravest difficulty in the contemporaneous appraisal of the recovery program, according to Donald R. Richberg, executive director of the National Emergency Council and the man selected by President Roosevelt to co-ordinate recovery activities, lies in the effort to evaluate each new Federal agency and each separate policy of such agency by itself.

Most critics, he said in a recent address in the Town Hall, Washington, confess their inability to see the program as a whole. "There are," he added, "so many factors involved in the reconstruction of a political system that it is impossible to plan and administer a host of activities so that every effort will be in harmony with a co-operative advance all along the line.

"The separate objectives of a thousand pressure groups within our own borders," Mr. Richberg continued, "the influence upon our domestic economy of the failures and successes of industrial and political programs of other nations all produce kaleidoscopic changes in the economic pattern from day to day which would make a mockery of any plans of recovery and reconstruction which might be prepared with the scientific precision of an engineer's blueprint.

"The present administration recognized, on the one hand, the futility of continuing a wishful reliance on laissez faire and, on the other hand, the folly of trying to plan in advance all the details of a national progress through a maze of ever changing conditions to a predetermined goal. As in every era, when delayed evolution accumulates the speed and confusion of revolution the master of public affairs has been found in the man who does not fear to do the first things first and to adopt the obvious common sense remedy for an obvious evil, without waiting for erudite scholars and cautious statesmen to perfect a complete and consistent program of political economy which human wisdom cannot devise and human ability canont execute."

"We must make American individualism that it was intended to be—equality of opportunity for all, the right of exploitation for none."—President Roosevent.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

New York State NRA Wins $358,450 Back Pay in 1934: Nearly 7000 cases involving violations of fair-trade practice provisions of codes were handled by the state office of the NRA in 1934, Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, state compliance director, revealed in a report for the year.

Wages totaling $358,450 were rewhose employers had- violated the whohe employers had violated the wage and hour provisions of the NRA. This amount, distributed to thousands of persons, Mrs. Rosenberg said, represented the difference between what the employees received and what they should have been making under the codes.

The litigation divisions of the NRA reported 325 prosecutions in the state courts and 41 federal court prosecutions. Of these about 95 per cent resulted in NRA's favor.

Mrs. Rosenberg reported that of the 7000 cases involving violations about 70 per cent were violations in respect to the filing of prices, bids and schedules and violations of provisions prohibiting sales below cost, sales below minimum prices as fixed in various emergency orders, and sales below filed prices in codes having open-price plans.

Other fair trade price violations adjusted included such matters as false and misleading advertising, piracy of designs, gratuities, false invoicing, and violations of credit or discount terms.

All these violations, with the exception of those involving prosecution, were adjusted successfully by negotiation with the offenders, she declared.

Mrs. Rosenberg expressed satisfaction over the growing understanding and co-operation between the NRA and business and declared that this condition might be expected to improve with enforcement and experience.

She asserted that the continued improvement in enforcement of codes and NRA obligations in this state was a factor contributing to recovery.

"The exact contribution of the NRA to industrial recovery cannot be established statistically," she added, "but the coincidence of immediate business improvement with the evolution of better living conditions as promoted by NRA compliance should demonstrate the dominant influence of the NRA."

Bigger Shoe Output Predicted In Boston: An increase in shoe production for 1935 is predicted in trade circles. Sustained improvement in the shoe industry last year resulted in an approximate output of 353,000,000 pairs. This large production is interpreted in shoe circles as indicating a substantial improvement in consumer demand rather than augmented stocks in the hands of wholesalers and retailers. Department store statistics likewise confirm the belief that stocks at the present time are in moderate volume.

Fifth District Trade Shows Big Increase: Improved trade in the Fifth Federal Reserve District for every line on which information is available for 1934 compared with 1933 is noted by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

It also declared that preliminary reports of December retail trade indicate "the largest volume of trade since 1929" in the district, which includes most of West Virginia.

Court Upholds Right to Enforce NRA Codes: The state's right to enforce the NRA motion picture industry's code and other regulatory agreements of the Federal authorities was established in a decision by Supreme Court Justice Edward J. Byrne in Brooklyn.

The court granted a temporary injunction against a Flatbush theater that was accused of violating the code by reducing wages of its projection machine operators. Justice Byrne directed the theater to refund the difference between the original and the reduced wages to the operator who brought the test suit.

Furniture Dealers Would Keep NRA Code: The National Retail Furniture Association, at its convention here, adopted a policy urging retention of the NRA codes of fair competition until June 18, 1936, and one asking prohibition of price fixing by manufacturers.

Members of the association were told that the retail furniture industry can pull itself out of the depression through co-operation with the Federal Housing Administration and similar agencies. Speaking at the closing sessio nof the convention, Ward M. Canaday, of the NRA, declared that the United States today needs 1,750,000 new homes—and that every one of those homes requires the things sold by the retailers.

"Your business last year was a billion dollars—far below normal," he said, "yet with the development of a successful housing program your business could easily participate in volume and profits which would mean an era of prosperity."

HAZARDS INCREASED BY NIGHT DRIVING

There are two principal hazards in night driving which cause, or at least contribute to most after-dark accidents. The first is the danger of overdriving the safely lighted space ahead of your car. If you are driving at a speed which will prevent you from stopping in less than 133 feet and your lights distinctly illuminate the road for only 100 feet, then you are continually driving into 33 feet of unseen conditions.

The other hazards of night driving is glare from oncoming headlights. This is a condition that is very difficult to overcome, for the cause of the blinding effect is the reaction of the human eye. In the daytime when everything is well lighted, the pupils of the eyes contract like the diaphragm of a camera set to give sharp focus in sunlight. At night, however, the pupils expand to let in more light, and vision becomes weak. Not only is more of the retina susceptible to glaring light but also the eye focus is less sharp and it becomes difficult to see any object clearly. No matter how well headlight lenses are adjusted to throw the direct beams on the road, there will always be glare trouble because of the way the human eye functions.

Make it a rule, therefore, to approach other cars slowly and avoid looking directly at their headlights.

HAPPENINGS HERE ELEVEN YEARS AGO

Some Items Gleaned From Copies Of The Record Of a Decade Past

Mrs. M. Rampe visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Bentley last Tuesday evening.

A daughter was born on Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Gambetta street.

Traffic Officer L. Bond was in town this week, and expects to resume his work on the highway shortly.

Deputy Sheriff J. A. Meeks has returnd from British Columbia with an extraditional prisoner, wanted in this county.

Friends of Lavina Fahy will be pleased to learn the quarantine on the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fahy, will be lifted Sunday, Miss Lavina having recovered from her attack of scarlet fever.

The merchants of Daly City have this week subscribed $159.50 to the Grace Presbyterian church, these funds to be applied on the purchase of a lot adjoining the church on Evergreen avenue. This purchase is necessary for the extension of the work of the church. Mr. G. E. Archer was the diplomat who engineered the finacial transaction.

Stanley Parminter entertained several of his friends last Monday afternoon on the occasion of his seventh birthday. The table was decorated with Easter novelties and bore a large birthday cake with seven candles. The guests were Lucy Cennarosabetia, Muriel Sherwood, Katie Schauer, Doris DeVincenzi, Helen Denk, Bertha Denk, Billie Sherwood, Albert Schaur, Billie Schauer, Louis Denk, Johnnie Denk, James McIsaas, Stanley Parminter, Mrs. McClelland, Mrs. Denk, Mrs. Gasperini, Mrs. McIsaas and Mrs. Parminter.

URGE TEACHERS SUPPORT PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

President Of State Teachers Stresses Need For All To Co-Operate

The 35,000 members of the California Teachers Association have been called on to give full co-operation in the sixteenth annual observance of Public Schools Week, April 8, in a proclamation issued by John A. Sexson, superintendent of schools, Pasadena, and state president of the teachers' organization. Sexson requested the association members to co-operate with the American Legion, the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the California Federation of Women's Clubs and all other organizations that annually unite to make the week's observance successful.

"Public Schools Week," said Sexson, "presents an annual opportunity for teachers to report on their stewardship of the schools directly to the people of the state, who are in fact the owners of the schools."

The proclamation continues:

"We, as educators, know that California has developed during the years from pioneer days, one of the outstanding school systems of America. Our public schools have withstood the shocks of the depression and have been enabled to provide, thus far, for the vast increase in attendanc and the consequent teaching responsibilities forced on us by the economic crisis.

"Only through a complete understanding by parents and the public generally of what our modern school system is and what its place is in training our children for intelligent and patriotic citizenship, can our schools hope to maintain their present prestige and continue to meet new problems as they arise.

"It is my earnest request that the 35,000 members of California Teachers Association, individually and collectively, unite to give their fullest co-operation to the organization aiding in Public Schools Week, to the public generally in viewing the schools and their work, and to the press of the state which has been uniformly generous in publicizing the activities of the week and the work of the schools."

Noise Of "Back Lash"

A slight jerk accompanied by a banging noise whenever the engine picks up the weight of the car, or the car begins to "drive" the engine, as on a grade, indicates what is commonly known as "back lash."

This is caused by looseness in the driving mechanism somewhere between the engine and rear wheels. If more than a slight looseness is observed, the car should be examined immediately at the universal joint and rear axles.

DALY CITY A. C. TEAM LOSE SECOND GAME

Daly City A. C. lost its second game of this season to the strong Merrymakers nine, Sunday afternoon at the Jefferson Union High School diamond.

The local boys outhit and outfielded the visitors, but all they could get for their efforts were seven runs, losing by a score of 9 to 7. Sam Lucia hit a home run.

Manager Eddie White will enter the local boys in the Summer League and expects to come out on top.

WHEN YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE

...use a spoon

It isn't what brand of laxative you take that's so important—it's the form. A liquid laxative can be taken in any required amount. If only a little is needed, you need never take a bit too much.

Doctors favor the easily measured liquid laxatives. Instead of any form that does not encourage variation from the fixed dose. A fixed dose may be an overdose for you—or your child.

Always remember this one thing about constipation: the secret of any real relief is reduced dosage.

Give the bowels only as much help as may be needed, and less help as the need grows less. You will find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin an excellent aid in regulating the bowels. It contains senna and cascara (natural laxatives) and it will clear-up any bilious, sluggish condition without upset. Delightful taste, and pleasant action. Your druggist has it.

WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering impurities from the blood stream. But kidneys get functionally disturbed—lag in their work—fail to remove the poisonous body wastes.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains; feel "all worn out."

Don't delay! For the quicker you get rid of these poisons, the better your chances of good health.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They tend to promote normal functioning of the kidneys; should help them pass off the irritating poisons. Doan's are recommended by users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

CALIFORNIA
News of the Week

The Pacific Coast has been the scene of many strikes lately, notably those of the cleaners and dyers, the boilermakers and finally the crews of oil tankers. Oil tanker strikers demand union recognition in preferential hiring and agreement on overtime, plus increase in wages.

For struggling through poison mine gas, 3000 feet underground, to save two miners who had been overcome, William Gilbert, shift boss, has been awarded a gold medal by the Holmes Safety Association. The rescue occurred at Empire Mine, Grass Valley, last December.

Major crimes, exclusive of homicides, continue to decrease in California. This fact has been brought out in a monthly report of the state bureau of criminal identification. February felonies totaled 2,405, a drop of 585 from February, 1934, and a decrease of 398 from January, 1935.

"I will never get a divorce!" emphatically declared Helen Louise Doke, "White Hibiscus" of Lamar Hollingshead, slain by the hand of her husband, Judson C. Doke, who has started serving a term of from one to ten years for embezzling $19.45 in public funds. Doke was acquitted of the murder charge and sentenced on the comparatively minor offense.

Heavy storms which have been blanketing the Sierra with snow have been a boon to the railroad men of Roseville, Placer County. Most of them are in the snow service and have seen some very busy days recently. Following a recent heavy storm, railroads found it necessary to adopt the flagging system, stationing men with red flags a mile apart along the railroad tracks to warn in case of snow-slides.

State Controller Ray L. Riley has appealed the decision of Superior Judge J. O. Moncur, granting the salary of chairman of the veterans' welfare board to John P. Brennan. Thomas Foley, Merriam appointee to the board chair, has petitioned the State Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus directing Riley to pay him (Foley) the December salary. Both Brennan and Foley claim the board leadership.

As part of their studies in the Bureau of Public Administration at the University of California, 14 students were conducted through San Quentin Prison under the direction of Howard Gardner, historian of the state prison board of paroles. Soon the same group will visit the Home for the Feebleminded at Glen Ellen, a state insane asylum.

San Francisco is very certain that it will hold a world's fair in 1938, celebrating the completion of the world's two greatest bridges which will span San Francisco bay. The site of the exposition, however, is causing considerable trouble in city official circles. Twice the board of directors has approved a shoal site in the bay, adjacent to Goat Island. Twice some other city department has disapproved. One thing is certain, there can be no fair without a site.

Raymond Rambo, the "respirator boy," is slowly losing his fight against death. For over 300 days he has been encased in a huge respirator which has done his breathing for him. Nearly a year ago the nerve energizing his diaphragm ceased functioning because of infantile paralysis. He was placed in the respirator in hopes that he could overcome effects of the disease. Now his body is beginning to atrophy from a lack of exercise, despite alcohol rubs every 20 minutes.

Famous as a rough water area for the good ship matrimony, Hollywood has produced a series of tidal waves lately which has nearly swamped that sturdy craft. Five almost simultaneous divorces among film folk have left even romantic Hollywood agog. Couples involved include Jean Harlow and Hal Rosson, Gwili Andre and Stanislaw Miotokowski, Elinor Fair and Thomas Daniels, Lila Lee and Jack Piene, Alice White and Cy Bartlett. The last two couples have merely made preliminary plans for separation.

Workers employed in California to give their services outside the state are under jurisdiction of the Industrial Accident Commission, the United States Supreme Court decided recently. Timothy A. Reardon, commission chairman, declared the decision of vital importance in connection with the state workmen's compensation laws. The case was that of Juan Palma, contracted in San Francisco to work in Alaska canneries. He was injured there, the court holding that labor signed for in California is amenable to California laws, regardles of where the worker is injured.

Vallejo celebrated the opening of a new $1,052,000 causeway connecting the city with Mare Island on March 14. Navy and city officials took part in the ceremony.

The canning season has opened in Sacramento, and with it the expected reduction of persons on relief rolls. Two large plants packing spinach are opening, employing a total of nearly 2500. This event marks the beginning of spring agricultural activities which will provide jobs for many of those who have been subsisting on relief.

TRUE GHOST STORIES

By Famous People

Copyright by Public Ledger, Inc. WNU Service.

By ED WYNN
Comedian.

"IN MY play, 'The Perfect Fool,' a few years ago, I performed what the public calls a mind-reading stunt.

"Before I began my act, I always made sure to tell the audience that I did not believe in mind reading, that my act was the result of four years' study and mental training. I had to memorize, to develop a code with my assistant, of 2,100 words, and to know the names of all famous generals, the capitals of all countries, the names of steamships, etc.

"One evening after I, blindfolded, had been reading the numbers on bills for people, I heard, in the creaky tones of an old gentleman's voice, some one challenging me defiantly.

"'You can't tell me what I have in my pocket.'"

"'An elderly gentleman in the audience says I cannot tell what he has in his pocket,' I repeated.

"'How do you know I am elderly?' he retorted.

"'You, sir,' I began in a portentous voice, 'have in your pocket a passport to Europe . . . Your name is W. L. Cowen; you are sailing late tonight on the steamship—'

"In the meantime, I was receiving by code, from my assistant in the aisle, the word Skythia. I knew that there had been some error, that there was no steamship by that name. As I groped for the right word, there flashed through my mind the headlines of the morning papers: "Steamship Scythia makes maiden voyage today.'

"I finished the sentence, 'You are sailing on the steamship Scythia.'

"Because I was annoyed at the man's antagonism to my work, I added:

"'Moreover, you are going to have a bad voyage and you will never make another trip to Europe.'

"Four weeks later I received a letter from England. It read:

"'We, the undersigned, take the privilege of writing to you. We believe this to be a matter of world importance.

"'We were in the audience the night you told a man that his name was W. L. Cowen and that he was sailing for Europe on the steamship Scythia. We, too, were sailing on the Scythia; we were being sent to England to do psychic research for the University of Pennsylvania.

"'After your performance, we went to see if there was a Mr. Cowen on the boat's passenger list. We found there was not, but the next morning we saw his name on the additional list. That evening, we wanted to speak with him to discuss your reading; but he was sitting at the captain's table, and we decided to wait for a more opportune time. The following morning he was found dead in his cabin.

"'We want to know if you had a psychic message that he would never take another trip to Europe.

"I put the letter down. To this day, any time I hear of anyone sailing to Europe, the thought of that coincidence comes to me and makes me shudder."

Use Dogs in Ghost Hunt in "Haunted" Farm House

Every night half a dozen armed men, accompanied by dogs, watch at a 400-year-old farmhouse, South Reston Hall, near Louth, Lincolnshire, England, because mysterious things had been reported happening there. The dogs are present because it is believed that canine senses are more sensitive to supernatural manifestations than are the senses of human beings.

Here are some of the strange, and at present unexplained, incidents which have occurred: Room thrown into confusion; food taken from the pantry; soot thrown down the chimneys; large holes made through a ceiling, and a bed slept in.

A young woman asserts that twice she has seen an "animal having a pointed nose and bushy tail." She fainted when she saw it. One theory is that an escaped monkey, hiding in a false roof of the house, is responsible, but a search failed to locate either a monkey or any other intruder.

The master of the East Lincolnshire Otter Hounds took his dogs and a terrier into the roof. Apparently scenting something, the terrier barked furiously at one spot, but nothing was found.

The strength of the intruder is an extraordinary feature. In a bedroom a sack filled with heavy material which had blocked the chimney for 50 years was thrown down to gain admission to the room.

Costliest Political Confab

The costliest political conference in history took place on "The Field of the Cloth of Gold," near Andres, France, in 1520 between Francis I and Henry VIII. Francis erected a magnificent palace, chapel and other buildings, all gold decorated, for the entertainment of Henry and the nobility of England and France. Nothing, however, was accomplished in the 17 days. No one wanted to get very far away from a large fountain which, from morning until midnight, poured forth two kinds of wine.—Collier's Weekly.

Lead Indispensable in All Forms of Painting

Although used extensively in printing and plumbing, in refining petroleum, and in manufacturing insecticides and certain colors, lead's most important use is in paint. Because of its strong adhesion to metal, red lead (red oxide of lead) is the standard protective paint for iron and steel. Where a lighter and more decorative paint is needed, white lead is admirable, since exposed to weather, it lasts longer than any other pigment, with the possible exception of lampblack.

The United States produces and consumes more lead than any other country in the world. After the metal has been located in beds of shale, chiefly in Missouri, and smelted, it is manufactured into commodities by one of three processes. Slabs of lead, rolled between heavy rollers to sheets of desired thinness, are wrapped like rugs around a pole and shipped for use as linings for tanks holding corrosive acids, as coverings for roofs, as plates interposed for protection between the radium worker and his dangerous mineral, and as linings for X-ray laboratories.—Bulletin National Geographic Society.

Hotel in the Air

The new Zeppelin, which is under construction in Freidrichshafen, Germany, will carry the equivalent of a two-story building, with 25 bedrooms, a dining room, 45 feet long, and baggage room large enough to hold automobiles. The craft will be 600 feet long and more than 120 feet wide at the center.

Lowly Snail Factor in Return to "Normalcy"

The lowly snail, famous for his lack of speed, is hurrying the return of better times in the Herxheim, the Pfalz (Germany) district.

The first Weinberg snail farm in Germany was opened there last year when a wine grower hit on the idea of putting the snails under his grapevines to work.

He found that if they were picked up early in the morning or after a rain and segregated to a special "farm," they could be bred and grown systematically.

The first frost last fall found each snail sporting a new jacket, tough enough to stand the knocking around he got when he was shipped to French markets.

Connoisseurs in France report that the German variety is equally tasty when compared with the best French Weinberg snails, and the result is that other wine growers in the Rhine Palatinate are running successful farms of their own.

Mrs. Mary Breslin of San Diego avenue entertained at a St. Patrick's dinner at her home Sunday She had as guests: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinhart, Miss Helen Reinhart, Melvin Kennedy, Miss Geneva McDonald, Miss Gladys Goldberg, Allan Metere and Melvin Breslin.

PENINSULA FIRE CHIEFS SESSION

Chief Andrew P. Chesney attended the meeting of the Peninsula Fire Chiefs Association in Belmont Tuesday evening of this week. Chief Nielsen of the Belmont department was the host. The meeting convened at the Belmont Cafe with Chief Thomas Cuff of Menlo Park presiding.

Between courses of the dinner considerable business was transacted.

A delegation from the San Mateo County Council of Legionnaires was granted an audience. They spoke on the "Disaster Call," which the Legion is trying to make universal. Several of the towns in the county already have these signals arranged on their fire sirens, but the Legion wishes to get a unified signal in all cities. Several suggestions were made and the chairman appointed a committee to look into the matter.

Chief Welkie gave a concise report on the meeting held last week in Sacramento by the Northern California Chiefs Association.

Chief Sandy of Oakland gave an instructive talk on the duties of a chief to his community.

Captain Trivetts, head of the Fire Prevention Bureau of San Francisco, spoke on fire hazards and prevention.

Chief Dugan of the Stanford Fire Department outlined the policy taken up by all the chiefs associations in regard to painting hydrants different colors to show what pressure is in them.

The County Chiefs Commission was requested to contact the Board of Supervisors with regard to the sale of fireworks this coming Fourth of July.

The principal speaker of the evening was an insurance man connected with the Board of Fire Underwriters. He gave some interesting facts regarding fire losses, etc.

CROCKER MEMBERS ATTEND LUNCHEON

Eight of the members of the Crocker P. T. A. had luncheon at Lucca's restaurant in San Francisco, Tuesday of last week. The ladies met at the restaurant at about noon, where a table had already been reserved. They had a very enjoyable hour together before attending the meeting of the unit. Those present at the luncheon were: Mrs. Elsie Lewis, Mrs. Fred Gaitor, Mrs. Julia Jordan, Mrs. G. Katch, Mrs. M. Wagner, Mrs. R. Abbott, Mrs. N. Clifton and Mrs. J. Caine.

Attend Installation

A number of members of Court St. Mary, No. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, attended the installation exercises at Court West of Twin Peaks in San Francisco, last Thursday evening. Among the delegates were: Mesdames K. Phelan, Angela Johnson, Ida Forrest, Elizabeth Wettstein, Agnes Denning, Evelyn Weckerle, and Miss Albina Restani.

To Form Mothers Club

A group of mothers of Boy Scout Troop No. 149, met at the home of Mrs. E. C. Boyle of Winchester street Tuesday evening, for the purpose of forming a Mothers Club.

The guest speaker was Mr. Ray Logan, scout councilman, who spoke on "Aims and Purposes of Boy Scouting."

The mothers were enthusiastic and plans were made for a luncheon and whist at the home of Mrs. Logan, 25 Alviso street, San Francisco, Thursday afternoon, March 28.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

Mrs. Nan Hilton of Crocker avenue delightfully entertained fifteen of her friends at her home Saturday evening at a St. Patrick's party.

The evening was spent in playing whist, prizes being awarded to the highest and lowest scores.

After the game refreshments were served on a beautifully decorated table. The favors and decorations were all in green in honor of the Irish Saint, Patrick.

Crocker Afternoon Whist

The whist held by Crocker P. T. A. on Wednesday afternoon under the able leadership of Mrs. Virginia Davison was exceptionally successful for one held in the afternoon. Mrs. Davison wants to thank all those who were instrumental in helping her to make the affair a success. Mrs. Davison deserves a great deal of credit as no committee was appointed to help her with the arrangements, which she had to complete by herself.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our deep appreciation of the wonderful tribute paid by the press; the lovely floral offerings, words of encouragement, and the many messages of sympathy from the various groups and individual friends and neighbors in the loss of a loving husband and father.

ACTIVE WORK IN SIXTH DISTRICT

Big Doings At Watsonville To Be Staged At Time Of Grand Rally

The grand rally of the Sixth District Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held in Watsonville, Saturday evening and Sunday, March 30 and 31.

Since the recent completion of the new Veteran's Memorial biulding at Watsonville, Rose Robrecht Weeks Post No. 1716, is in a favorable position to act as host and, with the other posts of the Monterey Bay Council aiding and abetting them in preparing for this affair, you may all rest assured no details will be overlooked in making the occasion both enjoyable and constructive.

It is urged that every comrade who possibly can will make this time the occasion for a weekend outing; bring your wife or lady friend and help make this rally one to be remembered.

The following is an outline of the program: Saturday evening at 7 o'clock a big bally hoo street parade, starting at the Veteran's Memorial building, thence through the business streets, back to the Memorial building, where a real Way Down South Minstrel Show will be put on by a troop of black face professional comedians from Wyman Post No. 888 of Santa Cruz.

Immediately following the minstrel show we will have a big dance for all, with a high class modern orchestra and a dance floor second to none in California. Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock an open public meeting in Auditorium of Memorial building, with an interesting program. Starting at 11 o'clock a degree team competition will be held in the post's meeting room ,second floor, Memorial building. Degree teams entering competition should promptly notify the writer so rules of the contest may be sent them. Starting at 1 o'clock a fine home style dinner will be served in the new banquet hall by the ladies of the Watsonville Auxiliary. At 2:30 o'clock the men will hold a closed business session in the posts meeting hall. All district and post officers are requested to submit written reports, briefly covering the activities of their particular office or post since January 1, 1935.

The degree team winning in the competition of the day will officiate in the initiation of a class of recruits. All posts are requested to bring recruits for this class.

The San Francisco County Council will be asked to act as host for a similar district rally to be held about June 1 or just before the department encampment.

PARENT TEACHERS YEARLY ELECTION

The regular meeting of the Woodrow Wilson Vista Grande P. T. A. was held Tuesday afternoon at the school on Santa Barbara avenue.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Pearl Jones; vice president, Mrs. Earl Barker; recording secretary, Mrs. Gace Hill; financial secretary, Mrs. M. Toomey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robert Evans; treasurer, Mrs. Catherine Foreman; auditor, Mrs. J. Linden; parlimentarian, Mrs. Maude Hanselman.

A competitive Thrift Essay Contest was held by the P. T. A. for the seventh and eighth grades during the first two weeks of March and the awards were won by Beverely Robischung and Ed Talbot.

Four delegates were elected to attend the district convention to be held at San Mateo Jr. College, April 11 and 12.

An Easter remembrance will be sent to Miss E. Kennedy, a teacher of Vista Grande School, who is confined in a San Mateo hospital.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

CLASS INITIATION BY EAGLES

The members of Colma Vista Grande Aerie of Eagles, No. 1848, held a class initiation in Eagles Hall last Thursday evening, honoring Past President William P. Bolger. A class of eight candidates was inducted into the order.

The honored guest was presented with a handsome Parker fountain pen and pencil set, by Past President Doc Kost, on behalf of the order.

Past President A. J. Bodien presented twenty-year veteran buttons to the following members: James Bierne, Charles Johns, Fred Klingler, F. Francesconi.

At the close of a very interesting meeting, all present enjoyed a fine corned beef and cabbage supper with all the trimmings, put on by the social committee.

Nomination and election of delegates to the state convention will take place Thursday evening, March 28.

Past President Otto Schramm has been recommended by the local Aerie of Eagles for the office of state turstee.

Fifteenth Birthday

Miss Patsy Cochran, daughter of Mrs. A. Cochran of Hanover street, celebrated her fifteenth birthday, by entertaining several of her friends Saturday evening.

A delightful evening was spent in playing games and dancing, after which dainty refreshments were served.

The decorations, refreshments and favors were carried out in the color scheme of green, the hostess also wearing a green dress in honor of Saint Patrick.

Patsy received many lovely gifts.

Those present were: Meta Callan, Beatrice Handie, Catherine Callan, Patsy Murry, Dorothy Eason, Hazel Eason and Dorothy Hessler of Parkside, San Francisco.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS INVITED TO SWIM

The Girls Peninsula Athletic League of Jefferson Union High School accepted an invitation from Burlingame High School, to attend the yearly play day given by the latter school on Saturday of last week.

The day was spent in playing in a volley ball tournament and in swimming. An entertainment was rendered by students of the various schools, after which ice cream was served to all present.

About 600 girls from San Mateo County attended this affair.

Miss J. Young, athletic instructor at Jefferson Union High School accompanied the girls from Daly City.

NEW MAN FOR TRUSTEE

Mr. Burns, who owns his home at 549 Hanover street in Daly City, has filed his papers as a candidate for trustee of the elementary schools of the Jefferson School District.

Mr. Burns is a sound technician and is at present employed as a projectionist at the Marina Theater.

He has been furthering his education during the past year by doing post graduate work on sound at the University of California.

During the World War Mr. Burns served his government as an army aviator. It was here he came by the name of "Scotty," which moniker still clings to him.

DISTRICTS ONE AND THREE HOLD DRILL FOR MEN

Local Fire Department Has Tests For Efficiency In Speed And Service

Last Sunday morning Assistant Chief Hanson ordered a drill of the men and equipment in District No. 1 at 9 o'clock. At the call of the siren Company No. 1 left the quarters on Santa Barbara avenue and arrived at the Woodrow Wilson School in one minute and a half; Company No. 2 from Vista Grande avenue arrived in 40 seconds and had their 40 foot ladder on the building two minutes after signal; Company No. 3, from West Lake avenue arrived in one minute and five seconds, laid 300 feet of 2½ inch hose, put on the siamese and laid two lines of 1½ inch hose, each 150 feet long, to protect adjoining property, and one on the roof of the school and had water on both lines in four minutes and five seconds.

The rest of the drill was spent raising and lowering the large extension ladder by all the different companies present.

Station No. 1 then gave a demonstration on first aid. The victim of the accident was Melvin Hanson, who had a fractured skull and a broken forearm. This drill was instructive as well as interesting to the rest of the members as well as a group of citizens who had gathered to watch the activities of the department.

On Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock Assistant Chief Silicani of District No. 3 called his men out on their quarterly drill. This drill consisted of splitting the company into two squads and the rivalry between them has a tendency to bring out some good work.

Number 1 equad laid 200 feet of 2½ inch hose, connected the siamese, put out two hose lines of 100 feet each of 1½ inch and had water on in one minute and 25 seconds. No 2 squad in the same drill took one minute and 15 seconds.

After the hose drill they had ladder raising drill until all members had a chance at the ladder.

Chief Chesney supervises all of these quarterly drills and notes any mistakes or errors; but he is glad to say that the men are getting more proficent with each drill.

EVERY COUNTY IN CALIFORNIA TO BE REPRESENTED

Every one of the 57 counties of the state will answer to roll call in the matter of exhibits in the California Building at "America's Exposition—1935" opening in San Diego May 29. An announcement at the local offices of the exposition in the Palace Hotel indicated that there has been a rush of applications for space since the invitation went out recently offering the counties space free of charge.

The building is an SERA project and will cost $90,000. Since Governor Merriam recently broke ground for it, a large force of workers have been rushing forward the construction work.

The building is to be situated on the Palisades adjacent to the music bowl and building that will house the $2,000,000 participation of the Ford Motor Company. The keynote of the exterior design will be the use of prow-shaped pylons, suggesting progress. The use of broad, flat surfaces, typical of Mayan and Pueblo types of architecture is being carried throughout the building.

STATE HEADS TO ENDORSE PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

Officials of P. T. A. Urge Club Women To Extend Energetic Support

Co-operation of the entire membership of the California Federation of Women's Clubs in the sixteenth annual observance of Public Schools Week, beginning April 8, has been urged here in a proclamation jointly issued to the allied club women by Miss Josephine G. Seaman, state president, and Mrs. Florence I. Kjorlie, state chairman of education of the federation.

The membership of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the American Legion, the Masonic order and other groups have already been requested by their respective leaders to join in the week's observance.

The appeal to membership of the Federation of Women's Clubs is as follows:

"In the interests of the conservation and development of human resources so that the highest point possible may be attained spiritually and mentally, through intelligent training and guidance, we, the California Federation of Women's Clubs, in conjunction with other organizations, do hereby lend our support to the statewide plans for the annual observance of Public Schools Week, April 8 to 15, 1935.

"We would urge all club mothers to visit their schools during the week, and to co-operate with this very worthy observance in every way possible."

Exhibits of work by students in various schools of the state will be a feature of the week's activities this year, according to the state committee in charge of the affair.

FILES FOR GRAMMAR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

A new entry into the public field has filed his candidacy for the position of grammar school trustee in the coming election next Friday, March 29. He states he believes he is well qualified to fill the office if elected.

Jack Cosbie of 510 Bellevue avenue is a family man, a property owner, and has been a resident of Daly City for the past ten years.

He is an ex-service man and a member of the Daly City Fire Department, and is also connected with several other organizations in this city.

Drill Team Active

The Daly City Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion of Post No. 410, have been busy drilling the past week, preparing to take past in the Americanism program to be held in Burlingame Sunday.

There are eighteen girls in the drill team and they will wear their snappy new uniforms on this occasion.
